JOE BILL WHITE

FINLAND IS SEEKING A SEPARATE PEACE

Disaster to all German arms in Russia became apparent today as another of the invasion forces numbering some 300,000 men were cut off in their retreat to Rostov.

The Germans were trying to make a Dunkirk out of the Kurch peninsula in the Crimea where evacuation is sought for another army.

The Russian Black Sea Fleet and the Russian air force had gone into action and the ships assembled by the Germans to evacuate these men were under constant attack.

The German debacle in Russia is growing in scope and severity. The Red army was advancing so rapidly that the Germans may not be able to defend Rostov. The force of 300,000 men being withdrawn from the penetration lines in the South Caucasus have been virtually cut off and isolated so they cannot reinforce Rostov.

The Germans at Rostov, it was believed are being evacuated. At best observers said the Germans could only make a token defense of Rostov.

Throughout Germany for the past three days a period of mourning has been proclaimed over the defeat at Stalingrad. There are Germans suffered their worst reverse in history.

Twenty-four generals and one Field Marshal have been captured.

The Russians are counting their prisoners by the tens of thousands.

A grand encirclement has begun on the forces trying to reach Rostov. The Russians have captured Kurch on the Black Sea and now threaten Sevastapol and the Crimea.

Large bodies of German troops, hungry, beaten and freezing are surrendering.

While this black picture faced the German people the British had stepped up their air raids and this morning it was a blasting of Hamburg. The British lost 16 bombers. Daylight raids are continuing.

Rumors spread Hitler might soon make a peace move through Franco of Spain or Switzerland.

Finland, said a report from Turkey, has served notice on Germany she will seek a separate peace. The United States would be called on to mediate and to look out after Finnish interests.

While the nation waited with anxiety reports from the Solomons area there was no news. Belief that a decisive naval engagement, the largest in history may be shaping up, caused interest to revive in the South Pacific despite the unprecedented German defeat in Russia.

Hoax Hanging Brings Quick Call From Sheriff Carl Black

A straw man so nearly resembling a human being caused much excitement Friday night for it was found hanging to a tree in a road side park on Highway 77 and nearby a crude coal oil lamp made from a bottle to light up the scene of the suicide.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Carl Black, received a telephone call and went out to invstigate. "It looked so much like a man, I felt sure there had been a suicide or a murder," said Sheriff Black. "Quite a number of cars had stopped and nobody would go near the figure hanging from the tree limb."

Soldiers arriving in the city by the north route discovered the body hanging from a tree. They stopped at the Dusek Store near the city and reported. Mrs. Dusek put through an excited call to Mr. Black who lost no time in getting to the park.

The straw man had been fashioned out of a battered leather jacket, blue duck pants, a battered hat and shoes. The hat, according to Sheriff black was so arranged that the head appeared to be most natural and the hoaxers even went so far as to tie the feet together to make the thing realistic.

The straw man was brought to the Herald plant around noon Saturday and taken to the office by Mr. Black.

MUST GET IN ARMY OR TAKE WAR JOBS

All non-essential workers, regardless of dependents, who are in military age, must get into war work or go to the army by April 1st the Manpower Commission in Washington warned Tuesday.

All draft boards will be notified of the new regulations.

On the face of the announcement which was broadcast by radio, it appears the nation may at last be placed on a total war basis. Experience in the past, however, has shown that no regulation has yet been made drastic enough to bring about total mobolization.

Some 70 occupations are listed as non-essential. At the same time essential occupations, already defined in draft laws, are re-defined and retained.

Farming has been declared to be essential and all men who are not now engaged in essential work may farm or enter war plants.

The Man Power Commission is replacing young men in the war plants as fast as possible.

Local draft boards will receive these new instructions in due course. At present all draft boards are reclassifying all Class 3A classifications. According to the radio digest of the new manpower edict Class 3A is to be abolished.

Men with children will now be called to the army or forced to go to war plants to work.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Until comparatively recently, New York had more residents who hated soiled money—that is, dirty bills—than any other place on earth. Thousands of bank depositors, cashing checks at tellers' windows, if handed bills that were not fresh from the government presses, were apt to put up a strong kick. New York hotels, particularly those of pretensions, prided themselves on always being able to make change for their guests in brand-new money. In fashionable restaurants, it was considered extremely bad form to send back change to a customer who had paid his meal check, in any but crisp, unused bills. Tellers, as a rule, dislike exceedingly handling new currency because the bills are inclined to stick together and they have to take extreme care, and consume valuable time, in recounts to avoid paying out too much. But that made no difference to New Yorkers who wanted their currency fresh.

Then the war came. First, it became increasingly difficult to obtain new fives and tens. Dollar bills, the unsullied kind, remained plentiful until recently when banks began to shut down on handing out even new singles to the general public. At certain banks, however, as this is being written, it is still possible, if the depositor is known, to obtain brand-new bucks. But the supply is so small that in hotels and restaurants most of the currency given in change is beginning to look like the American bills in circulation in Havana, than which, according to travelers, there is none more forbidding to the American who has a keen appreciation of sanitation. Nowadays many women are employed as cashiers in New York hotels and restaurants and some regard the soiled money with disdain, if not fear. Under the circumstances, they can do nothing save handle it.

During the days of World War I, there was similar shortage of clean bills. It was met, or partially so at least, by subjecting dirty money to washing, whether by the government or the banks, I do not readily recall, though it is my impression that the laving was done in Washington. At any rate, the bills came out clean, though often less colorful, and we got along without new money until the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the American Banknote company were able to turn their attention to matters other than producing Liberty Bonds. If every New Yorker were in the position of the eccentric member of a fashionable woman's club, who operates her private money laundry in the club's lavatory, things might be different. But that not being the case, there are many who hope that the government or banks will again go into the money-washing business.

Bathing bank notes might be more difficult at present than it was 25 years ago because the circulation of green money is now probably many times larger than it was then. There is a suspicion, however, that the preponderance of dirty money is due in part to the fact that much of the new "long green" is not in circulation but in hiding, stored away in safety deposits or cached under mattresses or rugs. But be that as it may, New York is feeling the pinch as are undoubtedly many visitors who have become accustomed to receiving new money in the metropolis. Of course, dirty bills buy just as much as the fresh kind, but they don't look so well and then too, there is the danger germs.

New York hotel men well remember the case of the cashier of a fashionable hostelry. In counting bills, he held them in his left hand and peeled them off with his right with the result that practically every bill passed over the little finger of his left hand at the first joint. One day he scratched that finger while adjusting his tie pin. The next morning he awakened with a high fever. The infection spread to the entire arm and before it could be checked, he submitted to seven long incisions. It was seven months before he could return to work. Thereafter, he used a finger stall when counting currency, until he got a job as a customers' man in a hotel brokerage office where someone else counted the money while he brought in stock buyers from whom it was taken.

CONGRESSMAN POAGE

The committees have begun to consinder the bills that have been introduced in the new session. This morning the Committee on Agriculture favorably reported out by unanimous vote the bill to include farm labor in the parity formula. A similar bill was passed by the House last session but died in the Senate. You will doubtless hear lots of this bill in the future as it is a matter of major importance. Its passage would not, of course, give agriculture the share of the national income to which it is entitled, but it is so fundamentally fair and sound that I feel that our government simply can not afford to call on our farmers for increased production until this measure is passed. I am very hopeful that it will receive prompt and favorable consideration in both the House and Senate.

We also favorably reported a bill to require the Farm Security Administration and other govermental agencies that have sold homes to people, on long time, to allow those people to pay the indebtedness at any time they can. As I see it, the only reason for advancing federal funds for the purpose of homes is to help people become home owners. There have, however, been some governmental officials who have wanted to have as much control over everybody as they could. Therefore, these officials have done what they could to keep these purchasers in debt to the government, in order that the governmental bureaus might more easily control the lives of the people. I don't believe in this sort of thing. Neither does the Agriculture Committee of the House. We are trying by this bill to break up this reprehensible practice.

The House has held some very interesting sessions this week, but most of its work has been confined to the appointment of the committees. The regular committees were selected as usual by the two major parties.—Each party selecting its allotted number of members on each committee. The outstanding incident of this committee organization was the effort of a majority of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee (who nominate the members of other committees) to place the American Labor member, Vito Marcantonio, on the important Judiciary Committee. Mr. Marcantonio is generally recognized as the most radical man in Congress. He has publicly exuressed his sympathy and admiration for the Russian form of government. I am perfectly willing for the Russians to have any form of government they want in Russia, but I don't want their their form in the United States. Mr. Marcantonio was prior to the entrance of Russia into the war a a most violent isolationist. Since that time he has changed his views on the war and has also devoted much of his time to creating bad feeling between whites and negroes. He boasts that he is going to pass an anti-poll tax and an anti-lynching bill at this session. I feel that he is totally unfit for a place on any important committee and certainly the Democratic Party should not attempt to honor a man who holds such views. I was, therefore, greatly pleased that the Democratic Caucus to whom all Democratic Committee nominations must be ultimately referred refused to approve the action of the Ways and Means Committee. I feel that it would have been on insult to the Democrats of the South had this man been seated on this committee as a Democrat.

However, the action of the majority of the Demorcrtic members of the Ways and Means Committee in this instance should show the public just what those of us who want to restore this government to the people are up against. Another clear example is the coal strike. This strike was a plain violation of pledges of the unions not to strike. It was a violation of the written contract with the coal mine owners. It was nothing short of open treason, and yet we have so far been unable to get either the President or a majority of Congress to even make the unions responsible for their acts. We allowed Mr. Lewis' union to bind the operators and the workers with a contract which the operators can not break without subjecting themselves to damages. At the same time we do not make Mr. Lewis or his union responsible to either the operators, his members, or the government. Last Wednesday I spoke on this subject urging action. I can find no excuse for the failure to act except cowardice or sympathy for this sort of thing on the part of the majority.

P. S. I have just obtained a pamphlet issued by the Department of Agriculture entitled "Victory Gardens." If any of you who read this are interested I will be glad to forward same upon request.

Negro Jail Escapee Caught by U. S. Deputy Marshal in St. Louis

Walter Stilwell, negro army deserter who escaped jail here on Dec. 7, 1942, has been arrested by a Deputy United States Marshal, in St. Louis.

The negro was struck by a local cafe owner because he disturbed the peace near the cafe and was sent to a local hospital from which he escaped only to be arrested by Deputies from the office of Sheriff Valter White.

Placed in jail here to await army police he escaped with three other prisoners who made their way to St. Louis in a car stolen at Rockdale.

Stilwell will not be returned here for trial because the military authorities have jurisdiction.

REDS IN 40 MILES OF ROSTOV ON DON

The Red army Tuesday was in 40 miles of Rostov on the Don River as the Russian offensive forged ahead to drive the Germans back.

As a result of this new drive four bases important to the German lines are threatened.

The radio said that American troops had gone into action against the Germans and had driven the Nazi from one position. Indications were the Germans are preparing to counter attack in Tunisia.

Land and air activities have been stepped up in the Solomons Islands.

Mr. Houston was in the Cameron Theatre when the fire was discovered. Except for water damage only a small repair will be necessary.

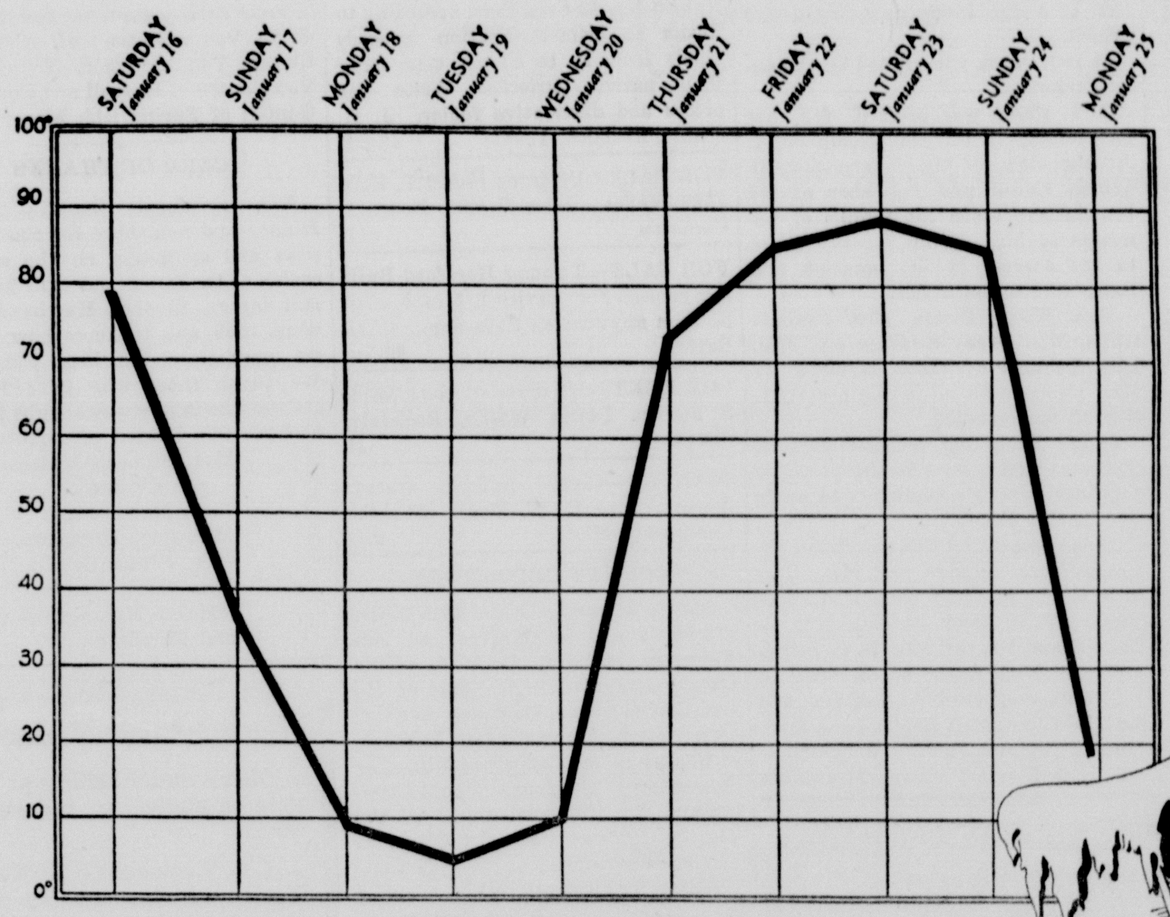
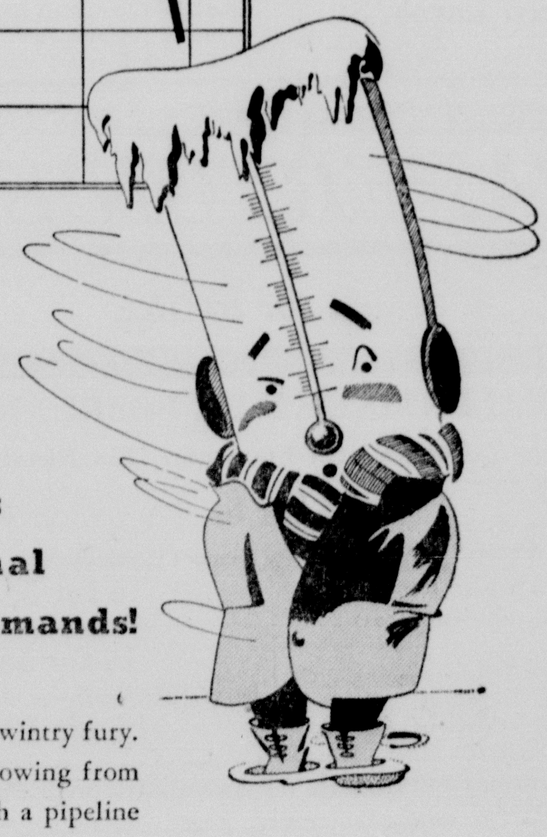
QUICK WEATHER CHANGES

Must be met when they occur with the teamwork of an organization like Lone Star's 4,500 Employees



Above chart shows the abrupt temperature changes during the period between Saturday, January 16, and Monday, January 25, inclusive. Period contains a record January day for HEAT and a near record day for COLD —88 degrees and 5 degrees. Dallas Weather Bureau Temperatures.



Recent reorganization of Lone Star transportation and distribution properties into one company makes for additional coordination of effort in meeting peak demands!

A drop of 74° almost overnight!—where else but in the Southwest could that happen? As the temperature drops, the need for gas service mounts until, for example, on Tuesday, January 19, the demand was over 100% greater than it was on Saturday, January 16.

Such sudden and peak demands must be met when they occur They cannot be prorated over the next few days or weeks. Few industries face the same situation Natural Gas does when a blue Norther suddenly strikes the Southwest with all its wintry fury.

Keeping Natural gas flowing from 75 different fields through a pipeline network of 4,800 miles in step with such abrupt temperature changes to supply the wartime fuel needs of the Southwest is a task that requires the special skill and experience of 4,500 men and women working together as a team. The work of each is important in maintaining the dependable, high-quality, low-cost gas service you know as Lone Star.

and W. E. Kuzel and their wives. Also Judge and Mrs. Ware and Judge and Mrs. Graham Gillis were at the official table.

Mrs. O. K. Phillips of Rockdale whose husband, now deceased, was a member of the court that named Judge Kemp, was a guest and sat at the official table.

The reception and serving of the luncheon was a typical gesure of hospitality in this colonial home. Decorations were beautiful, featuring flowers of the season and foilage. Into this fine atmosphere came a large number of friends and the hour which followed was an inspiration to all.

Three dining rooms where tables were laid with snowy white linen and gleaming silver, presently accommodated all guests. The menu, served in Southern style, was unusual for its variety and deliciousness. Meats cooked over pits, goose and chicken in the best Southern style.

Judge Graham Gillis, master of ceremonies made a delightful program following the luncheon. He introduced Judge Kemp who was gracious and eloquent in his appreciation for gifts of flowers and messages from friends and neighbors.

Judge Gillis, always an orator and possessing the fine faculty for remembering dates and history, told the story of the office of county judge, from the original Milam land grant down to the present day, modestly omiting any mention of himself for having served with distinction in this office. In years past many distinguished men have served as county judge, none more efficient or secure in the hearts of the people than Judge Kemp.

Judge Ware gave a short appreciation of Judge Kemp as a judge and friend.

A guest book was signed by the entire number.

Mrs. Kemp was praised for her partnership in the fine Kemp home. At the close of the luncheon J. B. White, Editor and Publisher of the Herald, expressed the thanks of the guests to Mrs. Kemp for her share in the success of the occasion and those who assisted her.

Mrs. W. A. Bonds, Mrs. Graham Gillis, Mrs. Grady Stidham and Mrs. Ella Dobbins of Waco, a sister of Mrs. Kemp, assisted in the hospitalities of the occasion.

Judge Kemp led the members of the court and guests to the porch of the home where a picture was made by Charles Brady.

Those present on this delightful occasion were: Judge and Mrs. Graham Gillis, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McGuyer, W. E. Kuzel, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Stidham, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ware, Mrs. O. K. Phillips of Rockdale; Judge and Mrs. Ed Gunn, Mrs. Bob L. Pool, Miss Loretta Polansky, Mrs. Mable Nicholson, Miss Bessie Dunham, Mrs. Nina Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Marak, Thelma Keese, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hicks, Mrs. Margurite Bever, Miss Dorothy Porter, Mrs. Gussie McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. White, Mrs. Agnes Lowe, Dr. G. B. Taylor, J. L. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Massengale, Miss Delphya Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alex Bonds, Wm. R. Rogers, George Banzhaf, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Black, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hillyer, Mr. and Mrs. John House, D. F. Shelton, W. T. Hamsel, Mrs. W. D. Bigbee, Mrs. Horace C. Leonard, Mrs. W. C. Moody, Mrs. Ben Reichert, C. A. Brady, Mrs. Ella Hooks Dobbins, of Waco; Jack Taylor.

Three of the colored friends of the host and hostess, were also present: Lottie Belle Boone, Home Demonstration Agent for the colored people of Milam county, Eliza Michols and G. W. Williams.

STALINGRAD ARMY TURNS TO OFFENSIVE

The great Red army is approching Rostov from 3 directions and the city on the Don river, gateway to the Caucasus, was under virtual siege as the Russians approached to within 10 miles of the city at one point.

Three prongs of the Russian army are nearing the city where the Germans will take their most strategic loss of the war.

Russian families were coming back to Stalingrad bringing with them scant belongings to re-estblish their homes. Moscow has written off the siege with victory and the battle now belongs to history. Hitler lost the flower of his central attack force in the snows around the city which became the grave yard of the world.

The British 8th army had advanced to within artillery range of the army of General Rommel in Tunisia. Observers said that it now appeared that Rommel might make a stand. The fighting was becoming more intense as the hours passed.

Last night the RAF attacked Cologne again, losing 5 bombers and left further destruction in the city which had already been blasted in one of the most severe raids of the war.

The people of the United States were waiting with anxiety a report from the new sea battle of the Solomons.

Secretary Frank Knox of the Navy said the battle had not yet reached its heights. The government in Washington said that the Japanese claims of sinking two U. S. Battleships and a number of cruisers, is a gross exageration.

Losses have been sustained on both sides. There was every indication the Japs may be making a desperate and serious attempt to re-establish themselves in the Solomons.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERIVCES

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 7.

The Golden Text is: "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Zechariah 4:6.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him?" (Isa. 40:13.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit being God, there is but one Spirit, for there can be but one infinite and therefore one God." (Page 334.)

Only 50 May Attend Lt. Angel Luncheon By Rotary Club Here

President Chas. M. Hicks of the Cameron Rotary Club, said early Monday that the guest list for the luncheon tribute to Lt. Dorothea Engel, Wednesday, will have to be restricted because of the limited facilities at the cafe dining room.

Mr. Hicks expressed that the number to attend will not be as large as first planned. The original luncheon called for 80 plates, including the wives of Rotary members and guests.

Only 50 plates can be laid for the Wednesday luncheon.

Mr. Hicks expressed regret the numvery fortunate in securing Lt. Dorothea Engel as guest speaker. Her story "I was Married in Battle," first published in the American Magazine and briefed in the Readers Digest, tells of her marriage to Lt. Emanuel Engel, Jr., as the battle raged on Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines. Separated in battle after a 6 hour honeymoon, they were reunited. She left the Peninsula as the Japs closed in and her husband became a captive.

Wives of club members will be guests on this occasion. It was originally planned to extend the guest list, said Mr. Hicks, to include many who would be interested in hearing Lt. Engel, but the facilities of the cafe are unable to accomodate more than fifty.

The program was arranged by P. W. Davis and Lt. Engel will be introduced by J. B. White.

The new Russian advance at Voronezh was giving the Germans more trouble. Everywhere the Reds were forging ahead.

The Japs for some time have been expected to attack again in the Solomons.

Necessary Important

"I have been given the task of carrying on the scrap metal movement. A work formerly done by my precedecessor, Lieutenant Colonel Hal C. Horton, who you probably know.

"It is an important work that will not function without your individual help. By your efforts and cooperation scrap metal will continue to flow to the mills and our war effort will be given another one of those necessary boosts.

'Drives, programs and affairs must be relentlessly pursued to produce the collecting and dispatching of scrap.

"A great per cent of the available scrap supply surely must still remain on the farms and in out of the way places. It is our job to retrieve it and get it into use.

"The war Department has ruled to cease furnishing transportation of scrap—other than that donated to the Army, but private enterprises will find a way.

"I hope to be able to visit all of the counties in this district to talk SCRAP with each of you, but in the meantime, "Scrap is Vital" so, let's go."

That Extra Something!

. . . You can spot it every time

YOU can count on a trustworthy engineer to stay on the right track. One of our first rules in making Coca-Cola is to buy the choicest ingredients. Another rule is to blend them with all the 57 years of skill that have made ice-cold Coca-Cola the most popular soft drink on earth.

For you, there's only one rule in order to enjoy ice-cold Coca-Cola. Be sure you get the real thing. Call for it by its full name or by its affectionate abbreviation—Coke. It's the way to get the distinctive taste and summed up goodness that make ice-cold Coca-Cola a thing unto itself. It's the way to change a commonplace thirst-quenching into the energizing pause that refreshes. * * *

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time.

With a he-man lunch, you want more than just a beverage. You want refreshment, too. That's what ice-cold Coca-Cola is . . . refreshment . . . all refreshment.

Capital Is Haven For Career Girls

Retired Government Employee Lays Down Rules.

WASHINGTON.—Augusta F. Johnston, who recently retired after working 42 years for the government, thinks the government offers a great deal of opportunity for young people.

"But," she added, "I seriously question the advisability of girls coming here to work for $1,440 a year. A few come at $1,260, and it is too bad."

For the girl seeking a career in the government, Miss Johnston, who was personnel director for the Public Roads administration from 1918, laid down these rules:

1. Do an A-1 job.
2. Take responsibility for the work you do.
3. Go to church to make your friends.
4. Be neat. No dirty fingernails or twisted stocking seams.
5. Put up a good personal appearance.

If a government girl follows these simple rules, Miss Johnston said she is pretty certain to win promotions.

Miss Johnston started out in a government job in Washington July 17, 1900, with Dr. Elwood Mead, director of the Irrigation and Drainage section under the department of agriculture. She was classed as a chief clerk. She had come to Washington from her home in Cheyenne, and in 1907 she returned to Cheyenne with the department of underground water supplies.

In 1914 she returned to Washington, with the Public Roads administration, and was promoted to personnel director four years later. She set up one of the best personnel branches in the government, without previous experience in personnel training.

Old Cathedral in Rouen Burned by German Tank

VICHY.—The burning of the historic quarter of Rouen between the cathedral and the Seine, one of the most perfect gems of Middle Ages architecture in Europe, in June, 1940, was blamed in a report by French experts today on a German tank.

According to the inquiry which lasted more than a year, the fire was traced finally to a German tank which tried to force its way down one of the narrow tortuous streets from the cathedral. Towards the river end of the street, the German tank came into the line of fire of a French tank which put the German immediately out of action.

Its driver killed, its fuel on fire, the German tank rammed itself into the walls of a 13th century rubble and timber house which caught on fire. The flames spread to more than 400 houses, all dating to the Middle Ages.

Policeman Will Quit Job Of Trying to Aid Cupid

KANSAS CITY.—A young couple sought Police Sergeant Cassidy's aid in getting married.

While Cassidy was locating a license clerk, two more matrimonially inclined couples arrived. The sergeant obtained licenses and the seven headed jubilantly for a nearby justice of the peace.

On the way one prospective bride decided she had better wait a day.

A second girl said she was due at her job and also would wait.

Then the third girl decided not to go on alone.

In silence Cassidy drove back to the police station.

10 YEARS OF HITLER PROGRAM IS STOPPED

British bombers swarming over Berlin in the most daring daylight raid of the war Saturday drove Herman Goering from his broadcasting station and other big wigs of the Nazi regime went running to air raid shelters.

In London the usually conservative Britishers said the raid was a most daring and successful one. Mosquito bombers, fast birds of destruction flew in low over the city to neutralize anti-aircraft fire and the work of destruction was on.

Goering, head of the airforce in Germany, had stepped to the microphone to begin his speech when the bombs rained down. He did not utter a word for more than an hour because he had to run for shelter. When the raid was over he returned to make his speech. He said when the war is over in Russia he will remember what the RAF has done to Germany.

Hitler made no address on the occasion of his 10th anniversary as God of the Germans.

Goering promised the German people victory but admited that Germany cannot well do anything about North Africa or anything else until the Russian bear is defeated.

The Russians were making Hitler's 10th anniversary one big headache. Nine divisions of German troops were bottled up in the swift drive in the South Caucasus and were to be wiped out.

Ground activity increased in North Africa indicating that a final battle has begun. Observers say that several months will be required to complete victory over Rommel.

Nurse Who Married In Battle To Speak At Rotary Club

Dorothea D. Engle whose story "I Was Married in Battle," and one of the most widely read accounts of the sufferings and sacrifices on Bataan in the Phillipines, will be guest speaker at the Cameron Rotary Club Wednesday.

Chas. M. Hicks, President of the Club, is arranging for a large number of extra guests and feels the club is very fortunate to have Mrs. Engle.

Lt. Engle is a nurse in the Army Nurse Corps and is now stationed at Camp Hood. Her husband, Lt. Engle is a captive. He was taken by the Japanese when Bataan fell.

Lt. Engle was before her marriage Dorothea Mae Daley and in the spring of 1941, as a nurse sailed for the Philippines. She was married to Lt. Engle in a jungle ceremony as the battle raged.

Both Lt. and Mrs. Engle are Catholics. When they decided to be married they consulted with several Chaplains as to how a ceremony could be performed in a jungle battlefield. Father William Thomas Cummings, agreed to perform the ceremony and on February 19, 1942, they were married.

There was no ring, license or veil and only two male witnesses heard them exchange vows. They had a six hour honeymoon before Lt. Engle returned to his company.

"I am carried on the records of the Army Nurse Corps as a widow. My husband is officially listed as missing in action. But I know I am not a widow. He will come back to me. Of that I am sure."

Joe Taylor of Kerr County was in Cameron on business Tuesday.

W. L. Blansett of Yarrellton was in Cameron Tuesday.

HITLER ORDERS HIS ARMIES TO RETREAT

Adolph Hitler who relinquished command of the German armies and gave over responsibility to his generals, was reported Friday to have issued an order for a general retreat out of the Caucasus and at other vital points on the far flung battle line.

Dr. Goebbels, propaganda chief for the Reich, will deliver an address within the next few hours and will issue Hitler's proclamation which imposes new work or die restrictions on the German people.

News commentators over the world were certain that Hitler's admission of defeat only partly tells the story of German disaster in the snows of Russia.

Axis broadcasting stations told of a coming offensive in North Africa. American troops they say are involved in the attack which has cut down Rommel's path of escape to 33 miles.
